DAVE PETERSON
RESIDENT AGENT
DELTA MINERALS INC.
545 S OAK DR
WOODLAND HILLS UT 84653

Dear Mr. Peterson:

On October 21, 2003, an inspection was conducted at the site of Delta Minerals (DMI) negotiated sale. The inspection revealed that most of the personal property that has been on site since the sale expired on July 17, 2003, remains at the location. The Mineral Materials Disposal Manual published on May 25, 1988, stipulates that personal property may be left on site for a maximum of 90 days past the expiration date of a mineral materials contract. This stipulation was written into the new 43 CFR 3600 regulations that became effective on January 22, 2002. DMI's contract stated the property must be removed within 30 days of expiration, but we have since allowed the full 90 days permissible.

Leaving property onsite past the time allotted to remove it after the expiration of the contract constitutes a trespass. I will allow one more extension of time, until December 1, 2003, for DMI to remove the property. Failure to remove the property, and to begin reclamation by that date will result in DMI's forfeiture of the $11,000 reclamation bond and with the property converting to the ownership of the Federal Government.

Sincerely,

Rex Rowley
Field Office Manager
